EXAMINATIONS

Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The application was denied by the Director, Texas Service Center, and is now before the Administrative Appeals Office on appeal. The appeal will be rejected.

The applicant is a native and citizen of Honduras who is seeking Temporary Protected Status (TPS) under section 244 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1254a.

The director determined that the applicant failed to submit additional evidence, as had been requested, to establish eligibility for filing after the initial registration period. The director, therefore, denied the application due to abandonment pursuant to 8 C.F.R. § 244.9(c).

On appeal, the applicant claims he has resided in the United States since 1996. He states he wanted to file an application during the initial registration period, but he was experiencing financial difficulties at the time and gave priority to other necessities such as rent and food. The applicant further states that he did not apply because of his fear of being deported. The applicant submits additional evidence of his residence in the United States.

The record reflects that the applicant filed the TPS application on May 28, 2002. In a notice of intent to deny dated June 12, 2002, the applicant was requested to submit evidence to establish that he was eligible for filing after the initial registration period from January 5, 1999 to August 20, 1999. Because the applicant failed to comply, the director denied the application due to abandonment.

On appeal, the applicant furnished documents as evidence of his residence in the United States. No other evidence, as requested by the director, was furnished to establish eligibility.

8 C.F.R. § 103.2(b)(13) provides that if all requested initial evidence is not submitted by the required date, the application or petition shall be considered abandoned and, accordingly, shall be denied. 8 C.F.R. § 103.2(b)(15) provides that a denial due to abandonment may not be appealed, but an applicant or petitioner may file a motion to reopen under 8 C.F.R. § 103.5.

The director denied the application due to abandonment, pursuant to 8 C.F.R. § 244.9(c). An appeal was subsequently filed by the applicant. However, there is no appeal of the director's decision in the present case. The appeal will, therefore, be rejected. If the applicant has additional evidence for the record, such documentation should be forwarded on a motion to reopen to the office having jurisdiction over the present application (the office which rendered the initial decision).

ORDER: The appeal is rejected.
